Dangerous Odors.

Some smells are dangerous. A single sniff of highly concentrated prussic acid will kill a man as quickly as a shot through the heart. The odor of a bad egg is due to the presence of sulphuretted hydrogen, and the objectionable perfumes of sewers and bone factories are attributable chiefly to the same gas. Chemical laboratories are famous for bad smells. Berzelius, who discovered the element called "selenium," once tried the experiment of permitting a bubble of pure hydrogen selenide gas to enter his nostril. For days afterward he was not able to smell strong ammonia, the olfactory nerves being temporarily paralyzed. Selenium gas has the odor of putrid horse radish. Tellurium is even worse. There is a story of a physician whose patient, a lady, refused to take an absolutely necessary rest because she was so fond of being always on the go in society. He gave her a pill containing a small quantity of tellurium, and her breath was affected by it to such an extent that she was not able to appear in public for a month. She never guessed what the trouble was. The volatilized essential oil of roses is supposed to cause "rose cold." This peculiar complaint is so far nervous in its character that paper roses sometimes excite it.—Boston Transcript.

John Milton's Portrait.

John Milton's harmonical and ingenious soul did lodge in a beautiful and well proportioned body. He was a spare man. He had about (abundant) hair. His complexion exceeding fair—he was so fair that they called him "the lady of Christ's College." Oval face. His eye dark gray. He had a delicate tuncable voice, and had good skill. His father instructed him. He had an organ in his house; he played on that most of a very cheerful humor. He would be cheerful even in his goitewits, and sing. He was very healthy and free from all diseases; seldom took any physick, (only sometimes he took manna) only toward his latter end he was visited with the goitewit, spring and fall. He had a very good memory, but I believe that his excellent method of thinking and disposing did much to help his memory. He pronounced the letter R (littera canina) very hard—a certain sign of a satirical wit. Temperate man, rarely drank between meals. Extreme pleasant in his conversation, and at dinner, supper, etc., but satirical.—Aubrey's "Brief Lives."

Told on Kentucky Legislators.

A member of the late legislature from southern Kentucky was invited one evening to participate in a Welsh rabbit lunch at the Capitol hotel. Dinking himself out, he awaited the hour. With that prince of good fellows, Tatt Eurban, he walked into the dining room, where coffee and rabbits were served standing. After partaking of one or two and a cup of coffee, he remarked to Tatt: "This is no rabbit. It's nothing but fried cheese and light bread." It is useless to say that member never attended any more lunches.

On another occasion the assembly balls or Germans, which were given every Tuesday night, attracted the attention of a mountain member, and he asked, "What are all them people goun that are goun up stairs?" Some one remarked up to the german "The— you say. Do they let the Dutch dance here?"—Owenton (Ky.) News.

A Glorious Sight.

A very amusing mistake was that discovered by a proofreader in a work written by Dean Stanley. The latter wrote, to use a colloquialism familiar in printing establishments, the "vilest hand" that ever puzzled the compositor. In one chapter the dean was describing a journey to Jerusalem, the frequent recurrence of the name of the Holy City causing him to use the contraction "Jers." Narrating the approach of his party to Jerusalem, Dean Stanley described their ascent up the hills overlooking the city. He pictured in glowing language and striking phrases the effect of the setting sun as it gilded the hilltops in a golden haze, concluding, as the compositor put it, in these words, "And as we slowly turned our faces to the east our eyes met with the glorious sight of Jones."

Resourceful Schoolma'am.

An editor in Nebraska visited the schoolma'am and found her "hot stuff." Here's what he avers to: "She is the pride of the town, the star of invention and a jewel of brilliancy. She drew a picture of an iceberg on the blackboard. It was so natural that the thermometer froze up solid. With rare presence of mind she seized a crayon and drew a fireplace on the opposite wall. The prompt action saved the school, but nearly all the pupils caught a severe cold from the sudden changes."—Crocketon (Neb.) Times.

After Him.

Here is an extract from one of the latest novels: "Gerald Harbison panted heavily. The close atmosphere of the little apartment constrained his splendid lungs. He went to the window, opened it and threw out his massive chest."

All of which would go to show that the landlady was hot on his trail. Cleveland Plain Dealer

The Trans-Mississippi and International Congress is composed of delegates from every State and Territory West of the Mississippi river. The idea of this exposition originated in that Congress at its session at Omaha in 1895, and the project has become a National enterprise and the National Commission has been organized and is in active service, there being one commissioner for each of the several departments of the Government. Most of the Trans-Mississippi States are well along in the way of gathering exhibits from their respective States and many of them have made liberal appropriations, while others are preparing exhibits through private enterprise.

Vice-President H. B. Maxson of Reno, has made arrangements whereby he can get Nevada exhibits shipped from any point in the State along the line of the C. P. R. to Omaha and return, and he requests all persons who wish the interests of the State advertised, to co-operate with the Exposition County Commissioner of his county, whose name is shown above, and prepare some product of his county and send it to the nearest point on the C. P. R. from which place it will be sent to Omaha and exhibited, and returned to the same point at the close of the exposition, free of expense to the exhibitor. Full information should accompany everything sent for exhibition. Before sending anything to the line of the railroad a full description should be given the Exposition Commissioner of the county, who in turn will notify the Vice-President, who will notify him what action to take, otherwise there might be many duplications. Apply to your County Representative for further information, and don't let this opportunity of advertising the resources of Nevada be lost.

WADSWORTH HAPPY.

Senator Stewart Succeeds in Getting a Good Law Passed Through Congress. The following amendment relating to title to lands in Wadsworth has become a law:

"That the inhabitants of the town of Wadsworth, in the county of Washoe, State of Nevada, be and they are hereby authorized to proceed and acquire title to the town site of such town under the provisions of section twenty-three hundred and eighty-two of chapter eight of the Revised Statutes of the United States, relating to the reservation and sale of town sites on the public lands, and on compliance with the provisions of such town site laws the inhabitants of said town of Wadsworth shall acquire title in manner and forms provided by the statutes aforesaid: Provided, that the proceeds of the sale of the land in such town site shall be paid into the Treasury, and be used by the Secretary of the Interior for the Pute Indians of the Pyramid Lake Reservation. Provided further, that if there are any Indians residing in said town and in possession of lots of ground with improvements, they shall have the same rights of purchase under the town site laws as white citizens. And provided further, that the tract of land situated near to the north of the town of Wadsworth, and upon which is located the Pyramid Lake Indian schoolhouse, containing one hundred and ten acres, more or less, shall be, and hereby is, reserved from the town site hereby established, unless it shall be determined by the Secretary of the Interior that said tract is not needed for Indian school purposes."

The Dispatch comments upon the above amendment as follows:

"This is glorious news for Wadsworth and will cause rejoicing in every household in this town. It is a victorious ending to a fight that Senator Stewart has been waging for us for years. Many of our people, the great majority of them in fact, had almost despaired of success. For keeping the matter alive and having faith in Senator Stewart's promise to keep it until he secured what he wanted and what in justice we should have, the editor of the Dispatch has to stand a great deal of abuse from men who will now reap in common with all of our people, a substantial reward by reason of Senator Stewart's toil. Senator Stewart, while working for us through the year to accomplish our wishes, was slandered and again by these selfsame men who said his efforts were only political dodges and the promises made by him would never be kept. Senator Stewart had knowledge of these men and their doings, but despite their abusive talk and actions, he went steadily on, through Senator Stewart's success has at last attended and property values today are 25 per cent in advance of what they were before the above became a law. The people have waited in expectation and these expectations are realized. We have secured a title to our homes, or will just as soon as the machinery of the law moves to that end. Our troubles in conveying are over and the question of title will not rob us in future of the thousands of dollars it has in the past. It was easy for a man who wanted a home to spend his last dollar for building a cottage and in making improvements year after year, but when misfortune came, the man lost his work, or had to move away, and wanted to realize on his home, his little all, the question of title was brought up by the shark who could wait and the man who couldn't wait had to sell and saw the earnings of a year stolen from him. These things are done for and the evil has been strangled by Senator Stewart. We have our reward for his labor and how we will compensate him is a question to ponder on. We do not think the people of Wadsworth ungrateful and we trust Senator Stewart will find them very grateful. When he comes through here it would be the proper thing to acknowledge our appreciation in a fitting manner. It means permanently to us a fluctuating value of property, an increase in property values, a better growth, a further development, a feeling of security, a right to point to a home and say 'it is mine.' It also encourages to plant industries here and to use the water power at our very doors. It means a more substantial government in local affairs whenever such becomes necessary. It means an immense stride forward and an improved condition of affairs. It means the realization of hope long deferred and happy hearts in hundreds of homes."

Taken to His Old Home. The remains of N. J. R. were taken to Petaluma, Cal., on the delayed train yesterday afternoon for interment. His son, N. W. Rolf, and daughter, Mrs. Clem Lemery, accompanied the body. The funeral will take place Friday and the old Reno pioneer will have entered upon his long, last, peaceful sleep.

W. P. Stewart, a former resident of Carson, but now of the State of Washington, was recently pardoned after being convicted and sentenced to a term of imprisonment for shooting his wife's paramour.

THE NEVADA BATTALION.

A Lively Day at Camp Sadler.

In compliance with the order of the Secretary of War, based upon the President's second call for volunteers, Governor Sadler was requested to furnish one battalion of infantry, to consist of one Major, one assistant Surgeon, with rank of First Lieutenant, one Hospital Steward, and four companies, each to consist of one Captain, one First and one Second Lieutenant, one First Sergeant, one Quartermaster Sergeant, four Sergeants, twelve Corporals, two musicians, one artificer, one wagoner, and 84 privates, maximum, 78 minimum. To carry the above order into effect Colonel Lord required the several militia companies to report to him the number of men each could furnish equipped for service, and the four companies reporting the largest number of men physically qualified for service would be selected to form the battalion. Six companies reported, namely: A and B of Virginia City, C of Reno, D of Winnemucca, E of Elko and F of Carson City. The Reno and Carson companies have recruited up to almost the maximum and expect to have the required number in a few days. The other companies by consolidating, will have over 90 men each.

Yesterday the Governor desiring to see the consolidation effected, notified the officers, and the men were formed in battalion at the camp. Company F reported 90 men enrolled and promised to have the maximum members in a few days. The Governor informed the men that if they elected their officers he would commission them if they had the requisite qualifications. The company withdrew and immediately elected Captain Carney, First Lieutenant Stone and Second Lieutenant Burlington. Company C, of Reno, reported 83 men with more recruits on the way to camp, and they unanimously elected Captain Stoddard, First Lieutenant Campbell and Second Lieutenant Chilton. Company A of Virginia City and Company D of Winnemucca were then drawn up in line and reported the number of men in each. The necessity of consolidation was made apparent to the men, and after consultation they reported as having elected Captain Coburn, First Lieutenant Windle and Second Lieutenant Conrad. Company B, of Virginia City, and Company E of Elko next reported their respective members, and were informed of the necessity of consolidating. There was some difficulty in selecting officers and as the matter had not been settled when the Governor left camp, further time was given the men and it was hoped the matter would be amicably arranged.

Surgeon Pinner is busily engaged examining the men. All the officers and over one hundred enlisted men have been examined, and there have been six rejections altogether. The Carson men were the first examined and the Reno boys came next. The Governor has not intimated who he will commission Major, nor does he intend to until the battalion is organized. There are a dozen or more applicants for the position, some old, some young and some in the prime of life.

Did Not Accept the Offer. J. H. Daughan, of Woodland, California, who was a member of the Woodland Company which was mustered out of the militia for refusing to enter the volunteer army because Governor Budd appointed a Captain who was not their choice, tendered Governor Sadler fifty men for the Nevada battalion. The Governor did not accept the offer, though the Sacramento Bee reports him as having replied that he would accept twenty of the Californians. The fact is Governor Sadler has accepted no men from outside the State, though one hundred and ten men from Illinois offered to pay their way here if accepted as members of the Nevada volunteers. A company of Texas men also tendered their services to Nevada upon similar terms, but the offer was declined.

No doubt many Nevadans from points near the State line have enlisted in the California volunteers and several Californians have reciprocated by enlisting in Nevada. No body of men, however, from outside the State boundary has been invited or encouraged by the Governor of Nevada to come here to enlist in the Nevada volunteers.

He told her she was a hopeless victim of consumption and that no medicine could cure her. She continued its use and after taking six bottles, found herself sound and well; now does her own housework, and is as well as she ever was. Free trial bottle of this Great Discovery at S. J. Robbed the Train.

A startling incident, of which Mr. John Oliver of Philadelphia, was the subject, is narrated by him as follows: "I was in the most dreadful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and side, no appetite—gradual growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Fortunately a friend advised trying 'Electric Balm,' and to my great joy and surprise, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks, and am now a well man. I know they saved my life, and rubbed the grave of another victim. No one should fail to try them. Only 50 cts per bottle at S. J. Hodgkinson's Drug Store.

The Riverside is recognized as the leading hotel between Sacramento and Ogden. It is one of the pleasantest mountain resorts in the country. The best of trout fishing right at the door and the best of accommodations for tourists. The bus meets every train.
